

Nick McMillan

Editor

Nick McMillan brings strong project management and communication skills to his position at Evergreen Economics. He ensures that all deliverables including reports and proposals meet the high editorial standards required by colleagues and clients.

1551A Solano Ave
Berkeley, CA 94707
mcmillan@evergreenecon.com
www.evergreenecon.com

EDUCATION

- > B.A. in Asian Studies,
Cornell University, Ithaca,
NY

CAREER

- > Evergreen Economics
2014 – current
- > Pacific Gas and Electric
1991-2003

AREAS OF EXPERTISE

Nick has worked to edit and prepare for presentation multiple large reports for Evergreen, including the Low Income Needs Assessment reports for the California Investor-Owned Utilities and the California Public Utilities Commission, annual evaluation reports for the Hawaii Public Utilities Commission, and the Local Government Partnerships reports, also for the California IOUs and the CPUC. He brings these skills from a variety of work experiences including roles at the Corporate Communications and Internet Services Departments at Pacific Gas and Electric (PG&E). While at PG&E, Nick researched, authored, and produced communication pieces to educate and built awareness of company initiatives for employees as well as to consumers across business units. These efforts include coordinating the production of PG&E's bill package and Spotlight insert, authoring and coordinating production of various internal facing publications, and developing ongoing time-sensitive and customer-focused content on PG&E's website.